Homily on Easter Sunday 2018

On this Easter morning we have gathered to declare with joy, Christ is risen! Alleluia! The catechism of the Catholic Church says: The resurrection of Jesus is the crowning truth of our faith in Christ, a faith believed and lived as the central truth by the first Christian community: handed on as fundamental by tradition; established by the documents of the New Testament and preached as essential part of the Paschal mystery along with the cross: Christ is risen from the dead! Dying, he conquered death; to the dead, he has given life. (CCC. 489).

The mystery of Christ's resurrection is a real event, with manifestations that were historically verified.

One of those manifestations is the Empty tomb. In our Gospel reading this morning (John 20:1-9) Mary of Magdala saw his grave empty. The absence of Christ's body from the tomb may not be a direct proof of resurrection nonetheless it is an essential sign for all. Its discovery was the first step toward recognizing the very fact of the resurrection. There are many other manifestations which we will be hearing in the readings within the Eastertide.

To understand the full meaning of the resurrection we need to look back to the Old Testament. In fact, everything in the old covenant was but a pictorial prefiguring of what God was going to do in the resurrection of His son, Jesus.

The resurrection is a re-cast of the Genesis account of creation "coming into being". In the words of St. Paul, it is the resurrection of the last Adam (1 Cor. 15:45). Here God breathed his life-giving Spirit into man again (Gen.2:7). Mankind is recreated in spiritual regeneration, becoming a new creature (2 Cor. 5:11; Gal. 6:15).

Resurrection recaptures the Exodus story -- bringing mankind out of the land of slavery into the Promised Land. Mankind held in the bondage of sin and death is brought back to life in freedom and holiness. Christ's coming out of the grave corresponds to Moses and his people coming out of Egypt, wherein the resurrection becomes the liberating exodus of salvation history. The reading of the Exodus story is one of the principal readings at Easter Vigil's liturgy.

The resurrection restructures the Torah. With the resurrection the external codification of the Law becomes an internal dynamic of life -- the law written in the heart. This is foreshadowed in Jeremiah's prophesy. (Jer. 31:31-34)

In the New Testament, the resurrection of the Lord is the central story and the climax of all the Gospel narratives. Christianity is not a message of merely what has been (past) and will be (future), it is the message of what is, the vital dynamic of the risen Lord in our midst. It is the restoration of humanity whereby God functions once again in human history. It is the focal point of all human history. It is the transforming reality in light of which everything else must be interpreted. All meaningful human existence must be interpreted by this earth-shattering, death-defeating reality of Jesus' resurrection. He has risen as he promised and he lives in our midst. His presence, symbolized with the Paschal candle radiates in the world. We look up to his light to guide us. With his resurrection we are made "a new creation", because we died with him we have resurrected with him. This very fact is based on our baptism. That means you and I are "re-created beings" in Christ. We are the new creation. The old has passed away. Alleluia!
